UNITED STATES

Editorial

Dear Readers in the United States,
I hope you all had a good start into the New Year!

It often comes with lots of resolutions on what we would like to do better this time around. And the government introduces new laws. Here in California as of January 1st we have a lot of happy chickens. The new law requires that each egg-laying hen must have room to walk around and fully extend her wings. So for quite some time our egg producers have started modifying their chicken coops or diminishing the number of hens. We are of course happy for the happy hens and don't mind too much if the eggs are going to be a bit more costly!

Chickens were not the only birds getting a break: The California Fish and Game Commission approved an emergency listing of the Tricolored Blackbird under the California Endangered Species Act. You probably know just as little as I what these birds look like, so here is one. And finally, the New Year brings a new layout for Swiss Review. I hope you like it and enjoy the varied articles.

Texas: Anne-Joelle Galley, Artist

Artist Anne-Joelle Galley likes working with vibrant colors. It's an affinity, she says, best explained by Matisse in his Notes of a Painter: "The chief aim of color should be to serve expression as well as possible. I put down my colors without a preconceived plan. (...) I discover the quality of colors in a purely instinctive way. (...)"

Inspired by the intense colors of Mexican art

Pierre Alin, Galley says she enjoys the process of building work, of making creative choices as she goes along rather than following some pre-determined plan. "I am very lucky to be artistic, yet, unlike my great uncle, I was not born with the [ability] to approach a canvas or plate and be done from the very beginning. I really have to work at my art and re-visit each project over and over again. That process is what creates the passion for me, as [I'm] 'working' a piece.

What she does: Galley calls herself a print-maker, painter and colorist. She now has added wearable art to her resume.

Why she likes it: The great-niece of famed European painter/composer/writer

Pierre Alin, Galley says she enjoys the process of building work, of making creative choices as she goes along rather than following some pre-determined plan. "I am very lucky to be artistic, yet, unlike my great uncle, I was not born with the [ability] to approach a canvas or plate and be done from the very beginning. I really have to work at my art and re-visit each project over and over again. That process is what creates the passion for me, as [I'm] 'working' a piece.

Impressions of New York

What inspires her: Having been brought up in Mexico, Galley is strongly influenced by the intense colors found in Mexican art. Her own work - from paintings to prints - reflect her taste for bright, brilliant colors.

If not this, then what: Asked what other profession she might enjoy, Galley steps completely out of the visual art world. "I would love to be a cellist or a baritone. There is a deep resonance to [that] instrument and voice that enchant me."

If not here, then where: "If not Houston, then London, a vibrant artistic city. Houston is home base for now, a wonderful and welcoming city, where I can easily develop my art ideas..."

What's next: "The newest project involves re-creating my paintings and mono-types into a series of limited edition luxury silk scarves, each scarf becoming a piece of art in its own right. The next endeavor - already in the works - involves the incorporation of paper collage with oil on canvas."

Our own member Marceline Hammer-Auguiet, having emigrated to the U.S.A. 46 years ago and having apprenticed as a seamstress in Zurich, was tasked with the project of dressing the dolls for the festival. They were displayed in our cultural booth, while we also had a booth dedicated to selling chocolate imported from Switzerland. Our thanks go to Therese Jochum for purchasing and shipping and all the arrangements necessary for getting the chocolate to us. Both of our booths were staffed by club member volunteers and assisted by student volunteers during Thursday and Friday between 10 am and 2 pm while many communities brought busloads of students to the Festival. The Festival ran from Thursday through the weekend until 6 pm on Sunday. The high-

Book Reviews Drops on the Water

Eric G. Müller and Matthew Zanoni Müller

This book is about the childhood experiences of a father and son. It traces the similarities and differences between distinct generations in their unique geographical environments. These stories jump between Germany and America, East and West coast, and the African continent. From the suburbs and fairgrounds of the United States, to the majesty and beauty of the Swiss Alps, from a beach in Nicaragua to a gum plantation in Zululand, they trace the inheritance of World War II, of German nationality, of the shock of a friend's suicide to a classmate's overdose. The anxieties of early love and rural small town life are balanced against changes seen in the familial sphere across generations. Apartheid inequities, corporal punishment and strict prep schools, a friend's illicit affair with an African maid, hitchhiking barefoot, and a scheduled Ping-Pong match with the Prince of Liechtenstein, all coalesce in a book that brings to life the circumstances that bind its authors to history, family, generation, and place.

Eric G. Müller is a musician, teacher and writer living in upstate New York. He was born in Durban, South Africa, and studied literature and history at the University of the Witwatersrand, Johannesburg. Müller continued his studies in England and Germany before moving to America. He has always considered himself to be Swiss, even though he has lived abroad most of his life. He has published three novels and a collection of poetry. www.ericgmuller.com

Matthew Zanoni Müller was born in Bochum, Germany and grew up in Eugene, Oregon and Upstate New York. He received his MFA from Warren Wilson's MFA Program for Writers and teaches at his local Massachusetts Community College. "Drops on the Water" is his first book. ### Remembering the Past – Enjoying the Present – Looking to the Future Sängerfest 2017

The San Joaquin Valley Swiss Echoes will be hosting the 29th United Swiss Singing Societies of the Pacific Coast (USSSPC) Sängerfest, June 22-25, 2017. The 4-day event will take place in Modesto and Ripon with venues at the Modesto Double Tree Hotel & Convention Center and the Gallo Center for the Arts. Saturday's Festival will be held at the Ripon Swiss Hall.

The "Swiss Echoes" are looking forward to greeting their singer friends and families once again in our beautiful San Joaquin Valley and are committed to ensuring that all will have a great time! Founded in 1947, a group of 28 singers joined as charter members with Mr. John Meyer as Music Director and first President. The new chorus became a member of the United Swiss Singing Societies of the Pacific Coast (USSSPC) and participated in their first Sängerfest in Los Angeles in 1948. They have taken part in every Sängerfest since. The highlights for the group were in hosting the first California Swiss Singing & Jodeling Festival in 1956, the 10th USSSPC Sängerfest in 1960 and the 16th USSPC Sängerfest in 1978 led by Sängervater Ken Hafer with Music Director Bertha Davis. The 24th USSSPC Sängerfest in 2002 was presided over by Sängervater Fred Kaufmann with Music Director Heidi Brunk. Trudi Boesch was the accompanist for all three Sängerfests. Currently, the mixed chorus is directed by Agnes Litfin Olmsted with accompanist SaraRae Vanderhelm.

The USSSPC Executive Officers that will be coordinating the 29th Sängerfest along with the "Swiss Echoes" members are: Heidi Betschart, President; Marie Schallberger, 1st Vice-President; Tim Roos, 2nd Vice-President;

Margaret Higgins, Secretary; Lisa Roos, Treasurer; and Advisors Sängervater Ken Hafer and Sängervater Fred Kaufmann. A sponsorship donation (personal or business) program has been set up for those who wish to participate. Sponsorship donations can be made payable to "Swiss Song Festival 2017" (see address below), and will be acknowledged in the Souvenir Program Book. Thank you in advance for your consideration. Please look for updated information on the 29th USSSPC Sängerfest in the months to come. Mark your calendars for June 22-25, 2017 and join us for a memorable and songfilled Festival.

With Singer Greetings,

New York: A Visit from the "Swiss Machine" Ueli Steck

In November, the Swiss Consulate in New York had a chance to welcome the record-breaking Swiss mountaineer Ueli Steck. We hosted an event at the historic Explorers Club in NYC, where Ueli shared stories of his extreme expeditions all around the world and presented his experiences in a lecture. It was wonderful to listen to the tales of his rocky adventures and to meet the Swiss Superman in person! While Ueli was in town, he also ran the NYC Marathon and climbed Manhattan's highest peak: One World Trade Center. Check out our interview with him and the filmed recording of his lecture in our tumblr post! <http://ow.ly/Gcjxl>

Ueli has also been nominated for National Geographic People's Choice Adventurers of the Year 2015! In particular for his "lightning-fast" solo ascent of Annapurna south face in 2013. We encourage you to support him by giving him your vote.
